When President Trump spoke by phone with Sen. Richard J. Durbin around 10:15 a.m. last Thursday, he expressed pleasure with Durbin's outline of a bipartisan immigration pact and praised the high-ranking Illinois Democrat's efforts, according to White House officials and congressional aides.

The president then called Sen. Lindsey O. Graham (R-S.C.), his confidant for months, and was on hand, which Durbin affirmed. Trump invited the lawmakers to come visit with him at noon, the people familiar with the call said.

But when they arrived at the Oval Office, the two senators were surprised to find that Trump was far from ready to finalize the agreement. He was "fired up" and surrounded by hard-line conservative such as Sen. Tom Cotton (R-Ark.), who seemed confident that the president was now aligned with them, according to one person with knowledge of the meeting.

Trump told the group he was interested in the terms of the bipartisan deal that Durbin and Graham had been putting together. And as he charged off suggestions from Durbin and others, the president called nations from Africa "biodiverse countries," derisively said and grew angry. The meeting was short, tense and often dominated by loud, one-way and shouting, according to Republican and Democrat familiar with the meeting.

Trump's ping-pong ping-pong from ducking to leading, from stating to deny, has come to define the contentious immigration talks between the White House and Congress, perplexing members of both parties as they navigate the president's vagaries, his combativeness and his willingness to suddenly change his position. The thing has divided those negotiations yet again and increased the possibility of a government shutdown over the fate of hundreds of thousands of young undocumented immigrants known as "Dreamers."

The account of the events surrounding Thursday's explosive meeting is based on interviews with more than a dozen White House officials, Capitol Hill aides and lawmakers.

The fight has left congressional leaders unsure of whether they still eventually come to an agreement. Some remain optimistic that Trump can be walled back to the political center and cut out a deal that expands border security while protecting those under the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) program, which Trump has often denied.

"The president is indisputable to getting a deal," Graham said in an interview. "Time will tell."

$x \sim x^{-1}(ax)$. The relation \sim is an equivalence relation in G ; the equivalence class of any element a is called its conjugacy class in G ; the equivalence class of a is denoted by C_a . Hence G is partitioned into conjugacy classes (as shown in the diagram); the size of each conjugacy class divides the order of G . (For these facts, see Chapter 13, Exercise 1.)

"Each element of the center C is alone in its conjugacy class."

Let S_1, S_2, \dots, S_r be the distinct conjugacy classes of G , and let k_1, k_2, \dots, k_r be their sizes. Then $|G| = k_1 + k_2 + \dots + k_r$. (This is called the class equation of G .)

Let G be a group whose order is a power of a prime p , say $|G| = p^n$. Let C denote the center of G .

Prove parts 1-3.

1 The conjugacy class of a contains a (and no other element) iff $a \in C$.

2 Let c be the order of C . Then $|G| = c + k_1 + k_2 + \dots + k_r$, where k_1, \dots, k_r are the sizes of all the distinct conjugacy classes of elements $x \notin C$.

3 For each $i \in \{1, 2, \dots, r\}$, k_i is equal to a power of p . (See Chapter 13, Exercise 1.)

4 Solving the equation $|G| = c + k_1 + k_2 + \dots + k_r$ for c , explain why c is a multiple of p .

We may conclude from part 4 that C must contain more than just the one element e ; in fact, $|C|$ is a multiple of p .

5 Prove: If $|G| = p^2$, G must be abelian. (Use the preceding Exercise F.)

6 Prove: If $|G| = p^3$, then either $G \cong Z_{p^3}$ or $G \cong Z_p \times Z_{p^2}$.

Vitamin C also ©m can be labeled as Ae ā~ ĀL-Acid Ae ā~ in the supplement form, and most balc multivitamins contain the recommended daily amount of vitamin. Since people who are pregnant, breast-feeding, smoking or using oral contraceptives have a lower blood level of vitamin C than others, higher doses of vitamin C may be necessary to achieve optimal results in these individuals. The recommended daily dose for vitamin C is at least 75 mg per day for women and 90 mg for men. Photo courtesy of: Flashpop / DigitalVision // Getty Images Whether in the form of an effervescent drink or flavored vials, cold preventive supplements and flu almost always highlight vitamin C as one of its main ingredients. Therefore, if the main source of vitamin C A© of foods that occur naturally, it is almost impossible for the excess of vitamin C to produce side effects. Although research does not indicate that the intake of vitamin C s³ can prevent the onset of cold or flu, adequate daily intake can shorten the duration of an infection or decrease the severity of symptoms. Although it is a good source when an individual needs a boost of vitamin C, supplements are not intended to replace a diet rich in naturally derived vitamin C happens when you don't have too much "or too little" vitamin ".
